NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT.

Progress of Preparations for Entertainment at St. Pant,

A large attendance is expected at the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at St. Paul, and the various local committees have been working night and day preparing for the proper reception of the many Grand Army men and their friends who will visit the city in early September. Things are thing may pass off smoothly.

The General Citizens' Committee, Gen. Edwin C. Mason, U. S. A., President, has been doing good work, and a canvass of the various Departments shows that all will send large delegations. Many Posts will attend as bodies, and for such the committee has secured quarters in separate buildings. During the past few weeks a thorough canvass has been made of the city of St. Paul, and now, no matter how large the crowd may be, the committee feels assured that accommodations can readily be prowided for all, and that without crowding.

One of the principal features of the Eucampment, and one in which all veterans are interested, will be the Reunions. Of these over 100 have already been announced, and during the next month Headquarters will be provided for nearly that many more. This department of the Encampment is under charge of Fred Richter, Chairman of the Committee on Reunion and Naval Association. He will answer all inquiries pertaining to his field of work, and assign quarters to any association of veterans that may desire to held meetings during the week.

All the other committees are equally busy, but their work will not show up so conspicu ously until the Encampment opens, when the veterans will realize that their comfort and happiness have not been neglected by the citizens of St. Paul, and see that everything possicity ever a pleasant memory.

A complete list of the General Citizens Committee, and also Chairmen of the Subcommittees, is herewith given, and comrades should address these officials when in-

MINNESOTA TROOPS.

Big Reunion to Be Held at the National

For a long time there has been a feeling among the veterans that the Regimental Reunions did not go far enough, and they should have some wider organizations. Army friendships were by no means confined to the members of the same company of the same regiment, but extended throughout brigades, and even army corps, and some of the strongest friendships among Minnesota troops were between members of different regiments which happened to be attached to the same brigade.

Even the Department Eucampments, although they have done a great deal, have not quite met the requirement; but, at the coming National Encampment, it is proposed to have a Reunion of all the Minnesota veterans at Fort Snelling, where they were mustered into the service more than 30 years ago. The Reunion will take place on the afternoor of Tuesday, Sept. 1. The veterans of all the infantry regiments and batteries of artillery will meet at the Capitol at 1:30, and march to for Fort Snelling.

Adj't-Gen. Muchlberg will have charge of the program at the fort, and it is intended that | Foster; Outside Guard, John Lanier. a permanent organization of all the surviving Misnesota troops shall be formed, with a view to holding annual Reunions. The subject of forming such an organization has been brought | News from Various Divisions-Words of Enup many times, and it is believed that no better opportunity than this for consummating it will be afforded.

Street Decorations.

Chairman Strickland has made his report on behalf of the Decorations Committee. Although some slight changes were made in the tion. Electricity will be a marked factor in the splendid decorations by night. Search lights are to be used, casting rays of many colors. The Corps badges will be seen as radiant displays at prominent corners, while white and colored lights will be employed with a profusion heretofore unknown in the Northwest. The streets by day will be hung with tricolored bunting, with banners, and with flags, in designs altogether original.

The Decorations Committee will make special effort to secure the decoration of residences obtain designs and material with little trouble and expense. A multitude of designs are aleady prepared at Hesdquarters.

For Sick Comrades. The 325 hospital tents loaned by the War Department have arrived at St. Paul, and the work of setting up the camp will soon begin. The tents will accommodate eight persons each. and those in charge will see that they are arwork will be done under the supervision of Gen. Muchiberg. Each of the tents is to have a tight board floor, and sidewalks are to be laid throughout the camp, and there will be no diffisandy soil, from its porous nature, will be an tion.
